LIFE SETTLEMENT SOLUTIONS ENCOURAGES KNOWLEDGE THROUGH CONTINUING-EDUCATION OPPORTUNITY

Company Offers Access to Certified CE Course

SAN DIEGO - July 14, 2008 - As the secondary market for life insurance continues to grow, Life Settlement Solutions, Inc. is presenting another option for financial professionals to learn about life settlements through a continuing-education course.

Initially offered during the second annual Life Settlement Awareness Month™ in June 2007, Life Settlement Solutions' continuing-education course is one of the first educational courses certified in all 50 states for life insurance licensing continuing education credits. The course, which can be worth up to eight credit hours of life insurance licensing, covers all aspects of life settlements and offers participants a better understanding of the ins and outs of the secondary market. Topics covered include the basics of life settlements, the transaction process, and how to work with brokers and providers. Participants can also expect to learn about investment benefits associated with life settlements, client eligibility requirements and relevant case studies detailing when life-settlement transactions are appropriate.

"As more people have become interested in the life-settlement industry, the need for quality educational sources has increased," said Larry Simon, CEO and president of Life Settlement Solutions. "At the conclusion of Life Settlement Awareness Month, Life Settlement

Solutions had more than 1,000 professionals interested and participating in our free and interactive events. Our continuing-education course further addresses the existing education
